

It's You I Seek

*It's You, O, God, it's You I seek;
I seek for You with all of my heart,
To walk with You as Enoch walked,
Know You as Moses knew You.*

*It's not the gifts and blessings I long for, My Lord,
It's not the anointing I now so much crave;
It's the privilege to hear Your voice more clearly,
And dwell daily in Your presence most holy.*

*It's not so much Your healing power I seek after now;
It's a deepening desire to know You as You are.
However, as I've touched the hem of Your garment,
I know I've been near the One who restores.*

*Giving-up is not an option for me any longer.
For I've pressed through the crowds to be near You.
Mediocrity and curiosity must break Your heart, Lord,
Purge any roots of those symptoms from me.*

*Whatever it is that thwarts Your eternal best in my life.
Cleanse and remove from me 'til I'm free.
Sanctify me now; teach me to sanctify myself,
For I seek unbroken fellowship with You.*

Susan G. McIntosh

© 2003

Susan@actsfoundation.com

www.@actsfoundation.org.